Guidelines on surgical and similar procedures.

(a) precautions against HIV transmission during surgical, dental, child delivery, embalming and similar procedures; and

(b) the handling and disposal of cadavers, body fluids or wastes.

(2) The Minister shall, at all times, ensure provision of appropriate protective equipment and post exposure prophylaxis to all healthcare providers and other personnel exposed to the risk of HIV infection.

(3) A person who, in the course of professional practice or otherwise, knowingly or negligently causes another to be infected with HIV through unsafe or unsanitary practices or procedures or contrary to any guidelines prescribed in accordance with this section commits an offence.

PART IV—HIV AND AIDS COUNSELLING AND TESTING

16. (1) A testing facility or a person carrying out an HIV test shall in all cases provide pre-test and post-test counselling to a person undergoing an HIV test, or in the case of a child or a person with a disability which renders the person incapable of understanding the meaning or consequences of the test result, to the parents or the guardian of that child or that person, and with the informed consent of that person or the parent or guardian of that child or that person, to any other person who is likely to be affected by the results of the test.

Pre-test and post-test HIV counselling.

*East African Community
HIV and AIDS Prevention and Management Act 2012*

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1) any person who is the owner, manager or otherwise in charge of a testing facility shall ensure that—

- (a) there are trained and authorized personnel to provide pre-test and post-test HIV test counselling; and
- (b) arrangements are made to meet the special needs of persons with disabilities.

Contents of pre-test HIV counselling.

17. The pre-test counselling required under section 16 shall, at a minimum, include, information on—

- (a) the nature of HIV and of AIDS;
- (b) the nature and purpose of an HIV test;
- (c) the clinical and prevention benefits of testing, and the potential risks, such as discrimination, abandonment or violence;
- (d) the services that are available in the case of either an HIV-negative or an HIV positive test result;
- (e) the fact that the test result shall be treated confidentially and shall not be disclosed contrary to the provisions of this Act;
- (f) the fact that the patient has the right to decline the test or to decline to receive the test result;
- (g) the fact that declining an HIV test shall not affect the patient's access to services that do not depend upon knowledge of HIV status;
- (h) the importance of disclosure of an HIV-positive test result to other persons who may be at risk of exposure to HIV transmission; and

East African Community
HIV and AIDS Prevention and Management Act 2012

- (i) the opportunity to ask the health care provider questions.

18. (1) The post-test counselling required under section 16 shall be provided after every HIV test.

Contents of post-test
counselling.

(2) Where the result of a test is HIV negative, a counsellor shall provide post-test counselling which shall include at a minimum—

- (a) the test results and the implication;
- (b) importance of further testing; and
- (c) the continuing necessity of taking protective measures to avoid infection with HIV.

(3) Where the result of a test is HIV positive, a counsellor shall—

- (a) provide post-test counselling to which shall include at a minimum—
 - (i) the medical consequences of living with HIV;
 - (ii) the modes of prevention and transmission of HIV and other opportunistic infections;
 - (iii) the importance of disclosure of the person's status to the person's spouse or spouses or sexual partner or partners;
 - (iv) the medical treatment and other social facilities available;

East African Community
HIV and AIDS Prevention and Management Act 2012

(v) the need to continuously seek professional services relating to HIV; and

(b) refer the tested person to an appropriate health service provider for follow up testing or treatment.

(4) A testing facility or a person carrying out an HIV test shall, where the result of a test is HIV positive, offer to the tested person, continuous counselling sessions in order to help such person to effectively cope with the condition.

Testing for HIV.

19. (1) A person shall not carry out an HIV test on another person unless the person carrying out the test is a healthcare provider or health worker approved by the Minister for that purpose.

(2) A person shall not provide pre-test or post-test counselling for the purposes of section 16 unless such person is approved by the Minister.

(3) A person who contravenes subsections (1) or (2) commits an offence.

Provision of testing facilities.

20. The Minister shall ensure that facilities for HIV testing are made available—

(a) free of charge, to persons who voluntarily request an HIV test in respect of themselves; and

(b) to persons who are required to undergo an HIV test under this Act or any other applicable law.

Prohibition of compulsory testing.

21. (1) Subject to this Act, no person shall compel another person to undergo an HIV test.

(2) Unless otherwise provided under this Act, every HIV test shall be confidential.

(3) Without prejudice to the generality of subsections (1) and (2), no person shall compel another to undergo an HIV test as a precondition to, or for continued enjoyment of—

- (a) any employment;
- (b) marriage;
- (c) admission into any educational institution;
- (d) entry into or travel out of a Partner State; or
- (e) the provision of healthcare, insurance cover or any other service.

22. (1) Unless otherwise provided under this Act, the informed consent of the person to be tested shall be obtained prior to any HIV test. Consent to testing.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), the informed consent to an HIV test to be performed on a child or a person with a disability which renders the person incapable of giving informed consent to the test, shall be the informed consent of the parents or the guardian of the child or of that person.

(3) In determining the guardian of a child for the purposes of subsection (2), the system of adoption and foster care under any customary law to which the child may be subject shall be taken into account.

(4) When, in the opinion of a medical practitioner or of a court the best interests of a child so require and the consent of a parent or guardian has been unreasonably withheld, the absence of the consent of the parent or guardian shall not constitute an obstacle to testing and counselling.

East African Community
HIV and AIDS Prevention and Management Act 2012

(5) Where special circumstances so require, a child may, subject to subsection (6) be tested without the consent or notification of a parent or guardian including, but not limited to emergencies, neglected or abandoned children.

(6) A child may be tested in terms of subsection (4) if the person testing is satisfied for reasons to be stated in writing that—

- (a) there are reasonable and sufficient grounds for the test to be undertaken;
- (b) the child understands the implications of the test and is capable of making informed choices on matters relating to the results of the test;
- (c) the child has been appropriately counselled in accordance with this Act;
- (d) the child has voluntarily consented to undergo the test; and
- (e) it is in the best interests of the child to undergo the test.

HIV test results.

23. (1) Subject to subsection (3), and (4), the result of an HIV test shall be confidentially and directly communicated to the person concerned or if the person is a child or a person with a disability which renders the person incapable of understanding the meaning or consequences of the test result, to the parents or the guardian of that child or of that person.

(2) A person providing treatment, care or counselling services to a person living with HIV shall encourage that person to inform the person's spouse or spouses or sexual partner or partners or any other third party who is at significant risk of HIV transmission from the person living with HIV, of the person's HIV status.

East African Community
HIV and AIDS Prevention and Management Act 2012

(3) Except where subsection (4) is applicable, a person providing treatment, care or counselling services to a person living with HIV may notify a third party of the HIV status of that person only where the notifying person is requested by the person living with HIV to do so.

(4) A person providing treatment, care or counselling services to a person living with HIV may notify a third party of the HIV status of that person if—

- (a) in the opinion of the person providing treatment, care or counselling services, after discussion of the matter with the person living with HIV, that person is not at risk of serious harm from the third party or from other persons as a consequence of such notification;
- (b) the third party to be notified is at significant risk of HIV transmission from the person living with HIV;
- (c) the person living with HIV, after appropriate counselling, does not personally inform the third party at risk of HIV transmission;
- (d) the person providing treatment, care or counselling services has informed the person living with HIV of the intention to notify the third party;
- (e) the person living with HIV is dead, unconscious or otherwise unable to give consent to the notification and is unlikely to regain consciousness or the ability to give consent; and

(f) in the opinion of the person providing treatment, care or counselling services, there was a significant risk of transmission of HIV by the person living with HIV to the third party.

PART V—GENERAL PROTECTION OF THE RIGHTS OF PERSONS LIVING WITH OR AFFECTED BY HIV

General prohibition of discrimination.

24. (1) Persons living with or affected by HIV are entitled to enjoy all human rights, without any form of discrimination.

(2) No person may directly or indirectly discriminate against a person living with or affected by HIV on the basis of that person's actual or perceived HIV status.

(3) A person who suffers an act of discrimination based on the person's actual or perceived HIV status or that of another person may institute legal proceedings against the person who committed the discriminatory act to claim damages.

Privacy and confidentiality of HIV status.

25. (1) Every person is entitled to privacy and confidentiality regarding the person's HIV status.

(2) A person in possession of information relating to the HIV status of any person shall observe confidentiality in the handling of that information.

(3) A person shall not disclose any information concerning a person's HIV status to another person, except—

(a) in the cases provided for under section 23;

(b) to a health care provider who is directly involved in providing health care to that person, where knowledge of the patient's HIV infection is necessary to making clinical decisions in the best interests of the person;

(c) for the purpose of an epidemiological study, where the release of information cannot be expected to identify the person to whom it relates;

(d) upon an order of a court, where the information is directly relevant to the proceedings before the court.

(4) In legal proceedings commenced under section 24 (3), a court shall upon the request of the person living with or perceived to be living with HIV order that the case be conducted in camera and where a court so orders, the reporting of such a case shall be done anonymously and no identifying facts related to the parties shall be revealed.

(5) A person who contravenes subsections (2) or (3) commits an offence.

26. (1) Subject to subsection (2), no person shall be—

Discrimination in employment.

(a) denied access to any employment for which the person is qualified; or

(b) transferred, denied promotion or have the person's employment terminated, on the ground of the person's actual, perceived or suspected HIV status.

(2) It is a disciplinary breach for which an employer shall initiate disciplinary procedures for an employee to discriminate against another employee on the basis of that other employee's actual, perceived or suspected HIV status.

(3) Every employer shall take all necessary measures to reduce the risk of HIV infection through accidental exposure to HIV in the workplace and in the event of such accidental exposure to HIV infection occurring in the workplace, the employer shall ensure free access to post-exposure prophylaxis and counselling for the affected employee in accordance with such guidelines as the Minister may prescribe.

*East African Community
HIV and AIDS Prevention and Management Act 2012*

(4) Every employer shall, in consultation with the employee take measures, including rearrangement of working time and provision of special equipment, opportunities for rest breaks and time off for medical appointments, in order to reasonably accommodate employees with AIDS-related illnesses.

(5) An employee living with HIV who, on account of an AIDS-related illness, is medically certified as no longer able to fulfill the employment duties is entitled to all benefits accruing to employees who retire on grounds of ill health.

Discrimination in educational institutions.

27. (1) An educational institution shall not deny admission or expel, discipline, segregate, deny participation in any event or activity, or deny any benefits or services to a person on the grounds of the person's actual, perceived or suspected HIV status.

(2) The administration of an educational institution shall keep confidential the HIV status of a learner or that of a learner's parents or close relatives if it becomes aware of such information.

Restriction on travel and habitation.

28. (1) A person's freedom of abode, lodging, or travel, within or outside any Partner State, shall not be denied or restricted on the grounds of the person's actual, perceived or suspected HIV status.

(2) No person shall be quarantined, placed in isolation, refused lawful entry or deported from a Partner State on the grounds of the person's actual, perceived or suspected HIV status.

Inhibition from public service.

29. A person shall not be denied the right to seek an elective or other public office on the grounds of the person's actual, perceived or suspected HIV status.

*East African Community
HIV and AIDS Prevention and Management Act 2012*

30. (1) Subject to this Act, no person shall be compelled to undergo a HIV test or to disclose the person's HIV status for the purpose of gaining access to any credit or loan services, medical, accident or life insurance or the extension or continuation of any such services.

Exclusion from credit and insurance services.

(2) The actual or perceived HIV status of a person shall not constitute a reason to deny or exclude a person from gaining access to any credit or loan services, medical, accident or life insurance or the extension or continuation of any such services.

31. A person shall not be denied access to healthcare services in any health institution, or be charged a higher fee for any such services, or be subjected to any other form of discrimination, on the grounds of the person's actual, perceived or suspected HIV status.

Discrimination in health institutions.

32. (1) Persons living with HIV have the right of access to quality healthcare services.

Access to quality health care services.

(2) The Government shall take appropriate measures to provide sustainable treatment, care and support to persons living with HIV, including access to affordable, anti-retroviral therapy and other essential medicines and prophylaxis to treat HIV or prevent opportunistic infections.

(3) The measures referred to in subsection (2) shall include—

- (a) the use of all flexibilities under the Agreement on World Trade Organization Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights as well as measures to encourage the local production of medicines;
